WHAT IS NEEDED IS AN EXTENSION OF FIRE LIMITS.

Building Commissioner Bush is of the opinion that the danger from fire because of the crowding to-pether of inflammable shantles and sheds along oard walks in Coney Island can only be obviated action on the part of the residents of Coney nd. The present laws, he says, are being strictly mforced by his Department, and, unless the Doney Island people get the fire limits extended to balliwick, or unless new laws are passed, comselling the separation of frame buildings, there is no elief in sight. The Tribune has explained the loss f life that might result if the buildings that border Doney Island's Bowery should catch fire when all of its resorts are packed with humanity and the board walk is a slowly moving, solid column of pushing. blowing pleasure-seekers. If the flames at such a fanned by a strong wind, it would be a niracle if a large number of victims were not iffered up to the greed of the individuals who exshange amusement or indecency for money in this

"This Department," said Commissioner Bush to a Tribune reporter, "has enforced the building laws ith especial care in Coney Island. The island is far outside of the city fire limits, and there is no violation of law in constructing frame buildings there. There are no other restrictions in the matter of building than that buildings shall be sufficiently strong and well arranged for the purposes for which they are intended, and shall have proper fire-escapes. A large number of the structures at Coney Island are of a temporary character, being little more than open sheds. This Department is careful to ascertain that every building put up, however small or insignificant, is sufficiently strong for it ended purpose, and built in a substantial manner, The Department has no authority to prevent the lding of frame structures, so long as they measure up to the above requirements.

"How could the limits be extended to include West Brighton?" asked the reporter.

'The extension of fire limits," replied the Commis ner, "originates with the people living in the district interested. They must petition the Common Council to have an extension of the limits to include their territory. After sufficient publication, the Common Council and Mayor have the power to extend the limits. The nearest fire limits to Coney Island at present are on a line 100 feet east of Sixthave., and there is nothing to justify the extension of the fire limits further at present. Buildings of the character that are used at Coney Island could scarcely be built of brick. As for the hotels along the seashore, we have taken the unusual precaution to make them have plenty of fire-escapes. "The shief trouble around the Bowery is that the buildings are crowded so closely together, and are thus a menace to the neighborhood. But no law is violated in this crowding. If a law could be enacted requiring frame buildings to be separated and to be of a certain style and character, it would be reasonable and beneficial in a locality of that character. If I am not mistaken, the proportion of fires in neighborhoods made up of frame buildings is smaller than in brick sections. This may be due to greater than in brick sections. This may be due to greater care on the part of the occupants of the frame houser. I scarcely think there is great danger in fire in the Bowery, unless such fire be accompanied by high wind. Most of the buildings have but one story, and there are many avenues of escape. Of course, the fact that the walks are built of boards adds somewhat to the danger."

The more recent of Coney island's big fires have fortunately not occurred during the busy season at the island. The big fire that took place about the close of John Y. McKane's reign came in the fall after the rush was over. This fire, it may be remembered, destroyed Paul Bauer's West End Hotel. The fire last year occurred just as the season was opening, but before the rush had begun.

The Academy of Music and the Polytechnic Institute, both of which were ordered to construct fire-escapes in the way of iron stairways outside their buildings by the Building Department some weeks ago, have not yet compiled with the request.

A Tribune reporter visited Police Headquariers yesterday to ask Commissioner Welles what he would prefer to let his chief decide a matter of that cort. Superintendent Mackellar said. "If indecent dances are being given at Coney Island, they some in violation of the law. Anything that tends to corrupt morals is a violation of the law." mildings are crowded so closely together, and are thus a menace to the neighborhood. But no law is

WOULD MARRY MRS. DE VOE.

A PEEKSKILL RESIDENT WANTS TO SAVE A "SOLES LIVE."

Recently the newspapers published the sad story of Mrs. Lizzie De Voe. She was lately brought before Justice Steers in the Flatbush Police Court on a charge of intoxication, and he committed her to jail for one day. It is said she had been repeatedly arrested for the same offence, but Justice Steers had ways released her through pity, knowing that her drinking habits were caused by a desire to drown her grief for the death of her only child, which took place while she was a patient in the Kings County wealthy, and they cast her off because she married a poor man, who died within a year. She is but twenty-eight years old, refined and still beautiful. Now comes a strange sequel. Yesterday Justice

Steers received the following letter:
Peekskill, Westchester Co., N. Y. Peekskill, Westchester Co., N. Y.

Justice Steers.

Hon. Sir: Will you please excuse my writing to you? I send you the inclosed cut from a newspaper regarding Mrs. De Voe. I have lost my dear wife by death, and would be very glad to welcome Mrs. De Voe, if you can only trace her address for me. I am anxious to marry again, as I have two very nice little enes to care for, who are boarding away from me. Hoping you will please assist me in possibly saving a dear soles live from drink, and hoping you will please not publish this note. I have a very comfortable home, but very lonesome. Respt. your servant, in all confidence.

Justice Steers decilned to give the name of this would-be benedict, but he wrote to the sorrowing widower yesterday, saying that he could not recom-mend Mrs. De Voe as a mother for his children. He has already made strong efforts to reform Mrs. De Voe, but in vain.

TO CONSIDER A NEW GAS CONTRACT.

The present Board of Aldermen has been in office six months and has taken no action in regard to lighting the city with gas, though the gas contract expired the day before the present Aldermen took office. Since then the gas monopoly has had the pleasure of supplying the city gas at the maximum rate allowed by law, $1 25 per 1,000 feet. The Committee on Electricity and Gas has held some meetings, and many other meetings called by its chairman, Alderman Leich, who really seems desirous that the committee should take some action, were not held, for the reason that the members would not attend. The committee has been considering a contract for one, three, five or ten years, but has as yet reached no agreement. The committee will meet on Friday at 11 a. m., or, at least, a meeting has been set for that date. Rumors are flying thick to the effect that bribery has been attempted. Efforts have been made to give the gas monopoly a ten-year contract, which would unquestionably be a gold mine to the gas combination, but would not prove so satisfactory to the people in these days, when the world is learning to manufacture gas more and more cheaply.

MRS. ALLEN IS STILL ALIVE.

Mary Alien, the woman whose case is puzzling the doctors at St. Mary's Hospital, was still alive last night. Mrs. Allen, who is fifty-five years old, was taken to the hospital in a dying condition last Friday. She had fallen down a flight of stairs at her home, No. 1,769 Fulton-st. a few hours before. The doctors noticed that her neck was broken, and that, according to all precedents, she had only an hour or two to live. The doctors, how-ever, believe she will not survive her injuries.

BIGAMIST HELD FOR EXAMINATION.

James A. Holden, twenty-five years old, who was nployed in the blacksmith shop at Greenwood Cemetery, and was formerly a corporal in Company I, 5th Battery, stationed at Fort Hamilton, was arrested yesterday on a charge of bigamy. When he reached the Adams Street Court he was garbed in jumper and overalls, and smilingly met the two young women, each of whom claimed to be Mrs. James A. Holden. One was Maggie Ryan, of No. 39 Grove-st., and the other was Emma I. Holly, who lives at No. 249 Fifth-ave. Miss Holly was the later of the two to go to the altar with the affectionate Holden. She was magnied to him in January by the Rev. D. H. Burch, of St. Stephen's Church, Kingsbridge. Maggle Ryan's marriage certificate is dated October 7, 1-83, at which time he was a gay corporal at Fort Hamilton, Justice Church performed the ceremony on that occasion. Soon after that marriage Holden went to live at Kingsbridge, and became acquainted with Emma. In spite of the objection of her parents, they went out waiking one evening, woke up the dominic at midnight, and were married. The next day Holden bought the ring, and that evening left town, since which time Emma has been looking for him assiduously. An amateur detective was put on the trail of the unfaithful one, and he was traced to No. 843 Fourth-ave, a few days ago. During all this time Maggie was likewise chasing the much-married individual, and when the two young women met by chance, they exchanged and experiences. But both firmly decided to make Holden suffer for his misdeeds. Detective Weiser was Holden told him while on the way to the Adams Street Court that he had probably as many as a dozen wives scattered here and there, but when the iron bars of the cell brought him to his senses he denied that he had married either of the fair complainants. He was held in $2,000 bail until Monday for examination. was the later of the two to go to the altar with Pauli journeying to Damascus breathing threatenings and hate against Christians, was in no fiercer mood than those men who were going to suppress "the robbery of the people," and smite the "robber barons." The snackles of trade were to be torn away and commerce at last to be emancipated. "Burn the custom-houses!" cried some of the infuriated reformers. "Send all free-trade traitors to the rear!" exclaimed other enthusiasts. Every warning voice was drowned by the pernicious clamor of these revolutions. working classes were getting twice the wages that drowned by the permicious clamor of these revolutions:s.

A schoolmaster from West Virginia, with a quilt behind his ear and the Presidential rod in his hand, was made chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and commissioned to frame a tariff bill which must necessarily be either efficient and practical or destructive. Though only two years before he had declared that the vast coal interests in his State must be protected or be paralyzed, he and the majority of his party basely surrendered their convictions to the President, and took their position in the line of Cuckoos.

A panic was precipitated which had no parallel in its extent of wreck and ruin. Values shrunk to shadows; men were made beggars; great commercial houses went into bankruptcy; railroads were forced into the hands of receivers. The gross earnings of a single line were reduced half a million deliars in one month. Wages were cut down where they were not wiped out. Mills and factories, where they were not definitely closed, rsa on half or quarter time. The revenues of the Government feli off, and a deficit of from fifty to seventy-five millions confronted the architects of ruin.

HOW THE TARIFF WAS DODGED.

HOW THE TARIFF WAS DODGED.

While the McKinley bill, that was vehemently denounced by the Democratic free traders, was in operation there was sufficient revenues to defray the expenses of the Government, and a sufficient surplus to meet necessary contingencies. Yet the McKinley tariff never had free scope, and its full results could not be estimated during the brief period of its operation. The knowledge on the part of importers and business men, that a high protective tariff along certain lines was about to become a law induced them to import an abundant supply of goods before its passage, and the result was that the great importing houses were stocked to repletion with all kinds of products that would have been affected by the new measure. Hence, during the period of the operation of the McKinley tariff, the volume of importations was reduced vastly below its normal quantity. In addition to this, the Democrats, on the election of the present Administration, declared their intention of repealing the McKinley act, and framing a tariff measure, not for the purpose of raising a revenue, as amounced in their platform, but as a first and decisive step in the direction of free trade. Again, importers and business men saw an opportunity to evade the tariff. to meet necessary contingencies. Yet the of protection to American industry and labor the balance of trade was always in our favor. And now all the Nation needs to resume its former prosperity is a return to the policy of protection. Then the balance of trade will again be revived, labor will be employed, and the money question will settle itself. In addition to this, the workingmen and producers must, and will, insist that the tariff be protective along all our lines of industry.

FREE-SILVER HERESY EXPOSED. Turning to the silver question, he said:

Turning to the silver question, he said:

The Democrats represent to the people that the restoration of prosperity is to be found in the free coinage of silver or cheap money. They profess to increase money by making sixteen ounces of silver equal to an ounce of gold, while the latter is really worth thirty ounces of silver all the world over. As well make sixteen ounces of lead or mud equal to an ounce of gold, while the rest of the world places a different value on each commodity.

This is simply a device of a set of scheming politicians to hoodwink the workingman in order to continue the process of robbing him, as he has been robbed during the last four years. Not content with depriving him of his labor through their free-trade policy they would now pay him for the little left of it in debased coin—in a dollar that will purchase fifty cents' worth of value. But the people will no longer be deceived. They will register their condemnation of the false and ruinous policy of the Democratic party by electing with an unprecedented majority that exponent and champion of American industry, American entrprise and American finance, Governor McKinley, of Ohio.

The conclusion of Judge Rooncy's speech was received with three cheers for McKinley and Hobart.

ROY STILL IN OFFICE.

HIS PLACE NOT YET ABOLISHED BY ATTORNEY-GENERAL HARMON.

CHANGES IN THE LIST OF GOVERNMENT OF FICIALS IN THE BROOKLYN DISTRICT.

Directly in line with the reduction of Marsha Hayden's force yesterday an afternoon paper printed a story that Attorney-General Harmon had abolished the office of Assistant District-Attorney Roy, partly on the ground that District-Attorney Bennett did not need an assistant. Another rea son given was that Mr. Roy, who is an active worker in the Shepardite faction, had offended Mr Whitney during the recent Saratoga Convention and from that moment his doom was seases. Mr. Roy last evening denied the truth of the story, and said that his office had not been

It was rumored, however, that Attorney-General Harmon had ordered Mr. Roy's dismissal on th ground of economy, but that upon representations that Mr. Roy is too valuable a man to lose the order was rescinded, and therefore he will be con-

Mr. Harmon's orders in regard to reductions in the other departments "on the ground of economy" left Marshal Hayden with only three of his side deputies. The men discharged were Louis M. Young, John Heydinger and Redmond J. McManus. He reappointed the following: Frederick C. Hilss chief departy, and Henry R. Evarts and Charles Koch deputies.

Marshal Hayden's orders to cut down his force were unexpected, and there was much soreness of feeeling on the part of the unfortunate men in consequence. Mr. Hayden declared yesterday that he could not run his office efficiently with the force now on hand. He will go to Washington for the purpose of having his old men reappointed if possible.

The discharge of Deputy Collector Janssen, at West Brighton, and the consolidation of his district with that of the Coney Island and Bay Ridge districts, under charge of W. S. Constant, Jr., was announced in The Tribune of yesterday. The total saving in railary is but $1.20. The total appropriation for Collector Kelley's office, excepting the salaries of gaugers, is $21.150. Last year over $7.00,000 was collected in these and twenty-five convictions were secured. During the Administration of President Garbeid, when Rodney C. Ward was Collector, the force in his office was larger than it is to-day, though the receipts were only half as much.

The principal evidence against the defendant was given by John Perkins, of No. 104 West Ninety-fourth-st., New-York, who said that he had seen the defendant go into the Sturtevant House with a woman who was not his wife. Then Mrs. Annie Pierson, of No. 18 West Twenty-fourth-st., New-York, a sister of the defendant, was called. She could not restrain her tears, although she tried very hard. She identified the signature of her brother on the hotel register, but as soon as she reached her seat beside Mrs. Charlesworth, she fainted. The court officers carried her from the court room, but the strain had been too much for the plaintiff, and she fainted also. She, too, was carried from the courroom into the ladies' waiting room, and there after a time, both women recovered. Justice Smith granted the decree, and the party left the court house.

A WHOLE BLOCK IN FLAMES.

The fire which broke out in the boiler-room of the Greenpoint Kindling Wood Works at midnight on Tuesday resulted in the destruction of property estimated to be worth nearly $300,000. The plant was located at Paidge-ave, and Setauket-st., and consisted of a series of one and two story wooden buildings, in which were stored thousands of bundles of The flames spread rapidly, and before the firemen arrived the buildings were a burning mass. Adjoining the plant was the frame building of the firm of Post & McCord, iron workers, which was soon in flames. The next structures ignited were those of Rickey, Brown & Donald, architectural non works, and the Fruin & Bambrick Construction Company, asphalt. All these buildings were frame. The flames time more than a square block was ablaze. When time more than a square block was ablaze. When Assistant Chief Perry, of the Fire Department, arrived, he at once sent in four alarms and several special calls, which brought apparatus from all over the city. Thousands of speciators flocked to the scene, having been attracted by the glare of the fire, which could be seen for miles. After several hours of hard work, the firemen managed to check the flames, but each building that became ignited was burned to the ground. How the fire originated is not known. The losses are estimated as follows: Greenpoint Kindling Wood Company, conducted by W. S. Piper, on stock and machinery, $20,00; Post & McCord, $150,00; Rickey, Brown & Donald, $5,000; Fruin & Bambrick, $20,00; F. C. Smith, $5,000. Most of the losses are covered by Insurance.

THE NEW CONGREGATIONAL MINISTER.

A UNIQUE FEATURE, IN THE WELCOME TO Greenwood.

THE NEW CONGREGATIONAL MINISTER.

MAY HEAL THEIR DIFFERENCES.

DAUGHTERS OF THE REVOLUTION HAVE A JOINT COMMITTEE AT WORK.

There is some prospect that the differences be tween the two societies known as the Daughters of the Revolution and the Daughters of the American Revolution may be healed at no distant date. Long Island Society of the Daughters of the Revolution made the first overture, and a joint committee was appointed to report in October. The Daughters of the American Revolution is the parent association. The only society in Brooklyn is made up of the seceders. In New-York City branches of both flourish. It is understood that Mrs. S. V. White intends to organize a chapter of the parent organization in Brooklyn, and will leave the Long Island Society of the Daughters of the Revolution. Mrs. White is reported as saying that when she toined the seceding organization she did so under the mistaken belief that she was joining the original organization. She has sent for blanks to be filled out by applicants for admission to the Daughters of the American Revolution.

"There should be but one organization of this sort," said Mrs. White, "and that should be the Daughters of the American Revolution. It numbers Daughters of the American Revolution. It numbers 15,000 members, and has societies in every State and Territory if the Union. Already a large proportion of the Long Island Society have taken out papers for admission to the National society. I shall call these ladies together at my home in the fall. We wish to wait until after the conference of the joint committee. We shall call our chapter the Fort Greene Chapter, in honor of the gentleman who erected the six forts for the defence of Long Island."

Mrs. White and Mrs. Henry Earle, regent of the Long Island society, will attend the celebration of the Battle of Saratoga on the Fourth of July, which is to be held at Saratoga Springs under the auspices of the Saratoga Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

THE BRIDGE MAIL TUBE.

BRIDGE TRUSTEES DEMAND A RENTAL MUCH TOO LARGE.

Postmaster Sullivan returned on Monday evening from a flying visit to Washington, which he made for the purpose of seeing that the Brooklyn Postoffice receives its share of the annual appropriation that becomes available with the beginning of the a particularly pleasant place to visit in the warm season, and while his journey thither was not an absolute necessity, he is satisfied with the result and believes that Brooklyn will be treated as generously as possible by the Postoffice Department offi-Mr. Sullivan found that Second Assistant Postmaster-General Neilson was specially interested in the project of connecting the Brooklyn and New-York postoffices by means of a tube through which mails may be carried either by electricity or pneumatic pressure. The Department is, in fact, ready to take this matter up and make a contract as soon as possible. Unfortunately, the company which has been carrying on negotiations with the Bridge authorities for some time has come to the conclusion that it can go no further because of its inability to raise the money needed to carry the project into effect. The matter is ready to be taken up by men who have had practical experience in building tubes, and the only serious obstacle in the way seems to be the attitude of the Bridge Trustees.

In order to find out the exact state of affairs a visited the Bridge office, at Washington and Nassau An examination of the records showed that the Trustees had given their consent that the company already referred to might lay a tube across the Bridge, provided it paid an annual rental of $4,000 for the first two years and of $6,000 a year subsefor the first two years and of $5,000 a year subset of quently. In the opinion of Mr. Suilivan, this sum would be far too large, and he expressed his views frankly to Fresident Howell. The latter refused to commit himself on the subject. He said, however, that there might be a meeting of the Trustees on July 13, when the subject could be brought officially before the Exard.

She received 482 per cent, out of a possible 500, and gets the proud title of the "prize girl of the city." She likewise wins the Mayor's prize. Miss Stanwood lives at No. 1,102 Dean-st., and is only fourteen years old. Her father, I. Augustus Stanwood, is an accountant for the Police Department. She was graduated from Public School No. 3, in Hancockst., near Bedford-ave. She has been showered with congratulations by her many friends on account of her success.

INJURED BY A TROLLEY POLE.

As car No. 746 was bowling along Fifth-ave, yesterday evening, about 6 o'clock, loaded down, steps and all, the trolley pole slipped out of the socket and in falling struck an Italian laborer on the left side of the temple. The man was knocked to the ground, but was picked up by his friends and fellowaborers. He seemed dazed, and could not speak even enough to tell his own name, although to the casual glance of a layman he was not seriously hurt. A police patrol wagon was called from the Tenth A police patrol was off was called from the tenth Precinct, and the injured man was carried to the station. For a few moments almost the entire block was full of cars. The conductor climbed up on his car, and at length got his bent trolley-pole into the socket, not, however, without causing a sparkle of fireworks, which caused a stampede both in and outside of the car. No arrests were made.

ASKED THAT HE BE CREMATED.

The death of William Swansboro, cashler at the Hotel St. George, who committed suicide Tuesday by shooting himself, was investigated by Coroner Coombs yesterday. The body was later taken to the Coombs yesterday. The body was later taken to the rooms of Henderson, the undertaker, where it was said last night that arrangements had not yet been made for its disposition. The cashier left a note requesting Captain Trumbridge, proprietor of the hotel, to see that his remains were cremated. Swansboro had been ill for several days. He had been in the employ of the St. George for ten years, was seventy-four years old and well liked. He was English and a graduate of Oxford.

THE REPUBLICAN FORCES IN KINGS COUNTY TO WORK HARD FOR CLEAN POLITICS.

The conference of leading Brooklyn Republicans in Tax Collector Appleton's office on Tuesday afternoon, and the publication of the address signed by 200 or more well-known members of the McKinley State League and other Republicans, cailing for an uprising against boss domination, have called attention once more to the strength of the movement in Brooklyn. Yesterday the interesting fact was revealed that while the opponents of the State machine are no less numerous than ever, and no less willing to fight the State organization, there is a difference of opinion among them as to the line of battle that should be adopted.

The Brooklyn names attached to the address sent out from the McKinley League Headquarters were Thomas Fitchie, Senator George W. Brush, Andrew B. Rogers, Francis W. Gien, Abner S. Haight, Lewis M. Halsey, Ernest Jahn, John J. McGinnis, M. T. Davidson, A. E. Vasa, David F. Davis, Alexander H. Doty, William Stone and Assemblyman Edward C. Brennan. There was considerable comment yesterday on the fact that no members of the Mayor's Cabinet had signed the address. It was said, in fact, that Chairman George H. Roberts, jr., of the Republican County Committee, had, after securing a number of signatures for the address, decided to withhold the names and not send them to the New-York headquarters. Commissioner Willis, Chairman Roberts, Tax Collector Appleton and the other leaders of the Wurster-Willis forces who had not allied themselves with the McKinley League, as well as Walter B. Atterbury, one of the strongest advocates of McKinley, at the meeting in Mr. Appleton's office decided for some reason known only to themselves to adopt a line IN POSTMASTER SULLIVAN'S OPINION, THE of action peculiarly their own, and the course that they decided upon was to withhold their that they decided upon was to withhold their names from the address, but to give formal notice to the State McKinley League that they were in full sympathy with the movement. What they were to gain, or what strength they will add to the canvass by this course of action has not yet been explained. They all declare most emphatically, however, that they are heart and soul in the fight against bossism, and that "they will surely co-operate with every effort within the party lines to elect delegates to the State Convention who will select a ticket in full sympathy with the National ticket and platform."

platform."

There was considerable disappointment felt yesterday by many Republicans in various parts of the city who had no opportunity to sign the address. Ex-Supervisor Fitchie says, however, that it was not the intention of the leaders in the movement to enroll all or even a majority of the Republicans in the city. There are in Brook-lyn hundreds of Republicans who have been less active in their warfare for clean politics than several of those whose names were attached to
